

NORTON TABLE

FRANKOF

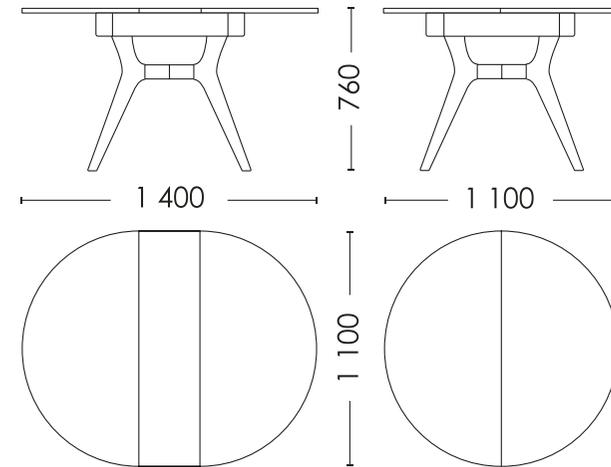

The Norton features a round shape, making it perfect for conversation and creating a sense of comfort and equality among those seated around it. The absence of sharp corners adds smoothness and softness to the space, setting an atmosphere ideal for friendly gatherings and family evenings.

SCHEME AND DIMENSIONS

The standout feature of the model is its extension mechanism.

An additional extension leaf, concealed inside the apron, increases the tabletop area without the need for separate storage.

With a single motion, the round top easily transforms into an oval.

TABLE

The frame of the table is made of solid oak. The tabletop features a protective layer of moisture-resistant plywood finished with oak veneer.

Its distinctive charm comes from the French herringbone pattern, where the veneer strips are arranged from the center in a chevron layout. The table apron has a more restrained rectangular profile, with clipped and rounded corners and beveled edges. The legs feature an original cross-shaped structure, with the upper and lower parts set at different angles and intersecting at a central point, which ensures both stability and a contemporary look.

NORTON TABLE

The Norton stands at 760 mm in height, meeting standard requirements and making it comfortable for any modern kitchen or dining room.

In its standard form, it seats four; when extended, it accommodates up to six. This functionality makes it a practical choice for family dinners, festive gatherings, or evenings with close friends.

Choose the Norton table for interiors in minimalist, Scandinavian, modern, or eco styles, where natural materials and simple forms prevail.
